

“The professors and staff in the midwifery education program are incredibly supportive, allowing me to not only push myself academically, but to explore who I am, and how identity and social structures impact people’s interactions with the healthcare system.”

-Rhiannon Cook, Midwifery Student